

Professional Computer Systems, Co. Offers Content Management Solution

Denison, IA – January 30, 2009. Professional Computer Systems, Co. (PCS) is announcing today the company will be offering an Enterprise Content Management solution (ECM) called Synergy, by ProfitStars. In partnering with ProfitStars, PCS will also be able to host the Synergy application on a server through the PCS hosting center, Utilit-e Central.

By deploying the application with Utilit-e Central, clients do not have the large upfront costs for a server or the maintenance of that server. Clients logon from their desk top and begin to use the Synergy application. An example of this partnership; with the integration of Synergy and the PCS application, document images associated with the customer's account will be available on the screen with a click of a button.

Synergy Content Management, a leading imaging and storage technology, captures, stores, and accesses all of the documents companies use, including statements, customer e-mails, and other correspondence. It can eliminate all of that paper by using an electronic records system which can help improve productivity, enhance customer service and control costs and serve to provide a means for disaster recovery.

Kim Ingerslev, President and CEO of PCS, states "Hosting this solution by ProfitStars is just one more way for PCS to provide a larger array of services to our current CIS/billing, accounting, online and hosting solutions. We are very pleased to have this partnership with ProfitStars and to offer to our clients the added capability of Synergy."
