PCS Welcomes Missouri Public Utility Alliance as New Client

Professional Computer Systems, Co. (PCS) is pleased to welcome The Missouri Public Utility Alliance (MPUA) as a new client. PCS's financial accounting application called Utilit-e Insight was chosen for MPUA's accounting application. The initial process of the application will begin in 4th quarter 2008.

MPUA was searching for a solution that understood the utility industry, could be flexible in meeting the complex needs of the alliance. PCS provides a robust accounting solution which includes work orders and multi fund accounting. PCS currently has several utilities in the state of Missouri using Utilit-e Insight in addition to multiple states throughout the United States.

The Missouri Public Utility Alliance represents community-owned (municipal) electric, natural gas, and water utilities. The Alliance includes three closely aligned yet distinct organizations: Missouri Association of Municipal Utilities - the association of Missouri community-owned utilities responsible for education, training, communication, and legislative activities in support of its members; Missouri Joint Municipal Electric Utility Commission - the electric joint action agency formed to provide community-owned utilities the ability to pool their resources, to buy and sell electric power, or to join together and invest in power generation and transmission facilities; and Municipal Gas Commission of Missouri - the community-owned natural gas distribution systems.

Mike Loethen, CFO and Director of Administration at MPUA, stated "PCS provided the best solution for our accounting needs. They took the time and effort to get to know what we wanted and were flexible in providing the solution we were looking for. We are looking forward to working with PCS."

"We're extremely pleased that MPUA has this high level of confidence in PCS in providing a powerful accounting solution." said Kim Ingerslev, President of PCS. "PCS is fully committed to the utility industry, and we're delighted to serve MPUA's accounting and financial software needs."
